1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-2, 6-7, 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Brown et al, U.S. Patent No. 6,100,208. Brown discloses a laminate comprising first and second nonwoven layers and a central water impermeable vapor permeable film. All three layers may comprise polyolefins. The laminate may have a water vapor transmission rate of greater than 1000. At least one of the outer layers may comprise a spunbonded fabric having a basis weight of about 40 grams per square meter. See example 1, as well as col. 13, lines 24-65; col. 6, line 43 – col. 10, line 65.

3. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Brown et al, U.S. Patent No. 6,100,208. Brown discloses a laminate as set forth above. Brown does not disclose the tensile strength, nail strength or breathability as claimed in claims 3-5, 8 and 10. However, since Brown discloses the same materials it is reasonable to presume that the Brown fabric laminate would inherently possess the claimed properties. Support for this presumption is found in the fact that the materials employed, basis weights, materials and water vapor transmission rates of the Brown laminate are the same as those of the claimed laminate.

4. Applicant's election with traverse of Group I is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that the search would not be burdensome. This is not found persuasive because the issues involved in the examination of the two groups as well as the search involved would be divergent and therefore the examination of both groups would be burdensome.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.
